

YORKSHIRE TRAGEDY

MUTILATED BODIES FOUND

London, Aug. 6. The death roll of the serious colliery disaster in Yorkshire already numbers twenty-one and only slight hope exists for the thirty-six others who are missing. The cause of the accident is still unknown but it is reported that a serious explosion occurred in the early hours of this morning in the workings of the Wharfedale Wood-moor mine near Barnsley.

The injured man who had been brought to surface but is too seriously hurt to give an account of what happened, was found three quarters of a mile from where the explosion occurred and his injuries indicate its terrific force. One of the doctors assisting rescue parties which had been cutting their way through falls of roof in order to get into the affected area on return to the surface this afternoon said that many bodies found were terribly injured and these men must have been killed by the violence of the explosion. The attitudes of others suggested suffocation by gas.

Captain Crookbank, Secretary for Mines, arrived during the afternoon at the pithead where all day crowd of over two thousand has waited anxiously for news from below. The Vicar of the parish conducted prayers.

This evening the Prime Minister telegraphed message of sympathy to "Family and friends of those who have so tragically lost their lives."

EVACUATION PROBLEM

London, Aug. 6. The list of British American and foreign nationals numbering about two hundred evacuated from Spain by British destroyers between July 30th and August 3rd was issued by the Foreign Office to-night. It can now be said that the great majority of British subjects who wish to leave Spain have been evacuated. There are still many hundred who, for private or business reasons prefer to stay on at their own risk but in view of the present unsettled conditions and impossibility of maintaining indefinitely facilities for removal of those who wish to leave, British Consular authorities in Spain are making every effort to get into touch with all remaining British nationals and are advising those who are not detained by imperative reason to take full advantage of present opportunities.

WATER RESOURCES

London, Aug. 6. Following the summer droughts of 1933 and 1934 a committee was appointed to enquire into better conservation and organisation of the country's water resources. In the middle of the wettest summer for many years the committee's report has just been issued. It recommends establishment of central advisory water board to collect and marshal all available information about country's water resources and requirements and to advise as to any schemes for improving water supplies.

POSITION STILL OBSCURE

London, Aug. 6. Press messages reaching London from Madrid and other areas under control of Government forces show a marked increase in confidence and claim considerable successes both in South and North against the insurgents. Directly contradictory reports however come from sources connected with rebel armies and the true position remains obscure.

VACANCY IN ERDINGTON DIVISION

London, Aug. 6. The sudden death from heart attack at the age of 55 of Mr. J. F. Eales, recorder of Nottingham, has caused a parliamentary vacancy in Erdington division of Birmingham for which he had been a conservative member since 1931. At the general election last year he was elected by a majority of nearly ten thousand over his labour opponent.

SINGAPORE AIR PORT PROGRESS

£1,000,000 Scheme In Advanced Stage

GARDEN APPROACH

Singapore, July 21. Singapore's £1,000,000 airport has reached an advanced stage of construction. A huge seaplane slipway and hangar are now taking shape.

They will accommodate the 17-ton flying-boats that are to be placed on all the main Empire air routes next year. Thus the airport will provide the most modern facilities for both sea and land planes.

The steel skeleton of the Terminal Building is already up. The vast apron of concrete in front of the building has been laid, and so has a great part of the taxi-ing perimeter runway, which extends nearly a third of the way round the landing area.

The site of the flying-boat slipway is situated on the harbour front, beyond the cluster of administrative buildings, hangars and workshops, and cannot be seen from the roadway.

RECLAMATION WORK

Across the Geylang River work has begun on the reclamation and filling-in of the area which will serve as a subsidiary landing-ground to be used by the Royal Volunteer Flying Force. Hundreds of thousands of tons of rock and rubble are being used to build it up.

The new airport will have a garden approach of lawns and flower-beds that will make it one of the most picturesque as well as one of the most modern in the world. The passenger arriving by air will land on a ground that is modelled largely on the Tempelhof aerodrome in Berlin. Then, when the plane has taxied in to the concrete apron in front of the Terminal Building, he will step out on to a section of the apron that has been coloured a special shade of blue to prevent eyestrain.

Rapid expansion of the Volunteer Air Force will take place as soon as new hangar and staff accommodation are available at Kallang. The enlistment of Malays, Chinese, and other Asiatic recruits for training as pilots and ground staff will then come under review.

MAKING-UP FOR TELEVISION

TESTS ON ANNOUNCERS

London, July 23. Early next month the staff of the television branch will take up their quarters at Alexandra Palace and one of their first tasks will be that of studio lighting. Mr. Stephen Thomas, a producer, will concentrate on this in co-operation with the electricians. The disposition of the studio lights and their general grouping will materially affect the quality of the televised pictures.

Another problem concerns make-up, and the three announcers, Jasmine Bligh, Elizabeth Cowell, and Leslie Mitchell, will submit to a series of experiments to discover what combination of paint and powder is necessary to produce the best results. In the course of the tests, which may last several days, the announcers will undergo almost every variety of facial make-up. The experiments will be complicated by the fact that the two television systems to be used—Balrd and EMI—call for different colour treatment.

TUNNELS DISCOVERED AT ST. ALBANS

London, July 23. Workmen engaged in building operations on the St. Stephen's Farm Estate, St. Albans, yesterday discovered underground passages which are thought to date from Roman times. The discovery was made in a field which is near the site of the Roman City of Verulamium, and is marked on old St. Albans charters as being the site of a Roman amphitheatre. Owing to it is thought, to recent heavy rains, many tons of earth have subsided in the field. The subsidence has revealed a cavern about 30ft. deep at the base of which are the tunnels. These are about 12ft. high, with arched roofs, and extend for a considerable distance.

ENGINEERING AND BUILDING

P. I. OIL EXPLOITATION

Will Add New Angle To Pacific Development Race

San Francisco, July 25.

Disclosure that the Philippine government under the leadership of President Manuel L. Quezon is contemplating a policy to encourage exploitation of Philippine oil introduces a new angle in the triangular fight for the discovery and development of new oil fields in the Pacific area now proceeding between the three major Pacific powers.

The competitors are the United States, Japan and Australia.

These three countries will watch with interest the development of oil possibilities in the new Commonwealth where there has been some exploration with favourable indications.

Any discovery or exploitation of oil in the Philippines would probably be to the advantage of the United States in the competitive oil situation. However, the Philippine prospects are only a potentiality in a struggle of major proportions already under way.

While the California oil fields are being constantly increased and developed to an extent to insure for many years to come more than enough oil for the commercial and defensive needs of the Pacific coast, Japan and Australia have now entered the field in an effort to develop self-sufficient supplies of their own.

Of the two latter countries Japan has already made the most progress in the discovery, development and financial organization of new fields, but now Australia has also taken the first steps to insure her own supply.

FORWARD POLICY

Advices just received from Canberra announce that the Commonwealth government has not only decided on a brisk forward policy for the production of oil for Australia, but has made available the sum of $1,250,000 to be used as loans on a dollar for dollar basis in aiding companies drilling in localities adjudged most favourable to the existence of well oil.

Protection from outside competition is also to be given to the extent of present customs, namely 14 cents per gallon, and excise duties of 11 cents per gallon on all gasoline derived from shale up to 10,000,000 gallons annually for the period of twenty years.

Sir David Rivett, chairman of the Commonwealth Hydrogenation committee has also been sent on a tour of investigation to England and Germany to determine the latest and best methods for the production of oil from coal.

Information in the possession of the Australian government, the advice asserts, points favourably to well oil in Australia and New Guinea. The money now made available is to be devoted not to geological surveys—which have already been made over considerable area—but to definitely ascertaining if supplies actually exist in commercial quantities in chosen places.

The assistance being given by the government for shale oil production is conceded to have been determined on the grounds of defensive needs rather than purely economic grounds. Offers are to be invited from companies prepared to operate on the shale seams on Newnes in New South Wales especially.

PURCHASE OPTION

The government there holds an option to purchase for $17,500 a plant which originally cost $5,000,000. The operating company, however, will be required to furnish $3,000,000 capital of its own.

The government has also undertaken the investigation of low temperature carbonization processes, but it will be another year before it is known whether these hydrogenation processes now in operation at the Imperial Chemical Industries' English plant will justify the creation of a similar plant in Australia.

Pending the development of its own oil fields and supplies, the Australian defence department has undertaken the construction of the two largest storage tanks in Australia. These will be situated on Chowder Bay, Sydney Harbour, and will have a capacity of 12,000 tons of oil each for defensive purposes. Three other 8,000 tons tanks have already been completed at Darwin, one of the strategic points of Australia.

In the meantime, Japan has already progressed much further in her efforts to develop oil fields of her own sufficient to meet both her defensive and commercial needs.

For the time being her efforts are being centered in Java, Sumatra and Borneo.

The discovery of fields there together with possibilities of oil which the Australian government have found in New Guinea lead some oil experts to think that an oil field in the southern Pacific may exist similar to that along the California coast.

JAPANESE CONTROL

On Borneo two companies have been operating with a total production of 13,640 barrels daily during the past year.

The present effort of Japan to extend these fields to an extent where it will have a nearby source of oil is being sponsored jointly by the Japanese ministers of the Army, Navy, Foreign Affairs and the Colonies.

Already a combine has been effected by the Mitsui, Mitsubishi and Sumitomo interests to operate under the new fuel policy of the Japanese government. It is capitalized at 50,000,000 yen, or approximately $15,000,000. Preliminary expenditures of 1,000,000 yen have already been authorized.

The first concrete step in the Japanese control of the crude oil sources already discovered and in operation calls for the consolidation of the Mitsui Trading Company and the Borneo Oil Co., which would thus become Japanese controlled.

The former has marketing experience and the latter engineering surveys that would become the basis not only of future efforts for finding new fields in the three islands but for the disposition of any and all products that might exceed Japan's own needs.

Pending the development of this oil supply of her own, however, Southern California oil producers report a marked increase in demand from Japan where oil is being stored against any eventuality that might arise before she is able to meet her own needs.

RAILWAY MANAGEMENT IN MANCHURIA

TO BE UNIFIED FROM OCTOBER 1

Dairen, July 20. Information reaching a certain trustworthy source in Dairen reveals that October 1 has formally been selected as the date for the long pending unification of the management of all Manchurian railways owned either by the Manchukuo Government or by the South Manchuria Railway Company.

Naturally, the activities of the General Direction of Manchukuo State Railways and the Railway Department of the South Manchuria Railway Company will be regulated on a uniform basis from the date, this information states. This, it is hoped, will prove much instrumental in rationalizing the management of railways throughout Manchuria.

Meanwhile, a report from Moukden states that the General Direction's third railway construction programme will be completed before the end of next year. When this programme is finished, the total mileage of railway lines in Manchuria will be raised to 10,000 kilometres.

MOTOR TORPEDO-BOATS

Latest Types And Naval Warfare

SPEED IN ROUGH SEAS

The fact that certain foreign navies have provided themselves with motor torpedo-boats in large numbers, together with their recent reintroduction into the Royal Navy after an eclipse of 15 years, has made them the object of much public interest of late.

It is, of course, no new departure for them to be built in this country. Motor torpedo-boats are in fact a purely British product, first evolved in England during the War and continuously developed here since; though, since none was built for the Royal Navy during the years of strict economy, the market for them has been severely restricted. Progress in their development has thus been necessarily limited, and it reflects great credit on those firms who have devoted themselves continuously to their design and construction through years of difficulty that it should have been as great as it has.

Besides the boats now coming into service in the Navy, several of a different design have been built of late years for foreign Powers by Messrs. Thornycroft, the originators of the type as well as of many earlier types of smaller warship. The trials of one of these were described in "The Times" of June 5, and Messrs. Thornycroft have now a further order for similar craft in hand at their works at Hampton.

The wartime boats did fine work on the Belgian Coast during the War, as well as in Russian waters later, and they proved themselves so efficient that several of the Allied and associated Powers ordered a number of them from Messrs. Thornycroft—with the approval of the British Government—after the War. The boats built since by the same firm, chiefly for smaller Powers, both in Europe and the East, have been developed largely on the same lines.

Since the Powers that have acquired them of late years need them chiefly for short-range or river work, the question of sea-keeping qualities or habitability has not arisen. But though presumably for that reason, Messrs. Thornycroft have continued to develop the "skimming" type and have thereby achieved very high speeds with moderate horse-power, actually their latest boats are exceedingly sea-worthy in heavy weather. This was shown by a recent trip from the Thames to Portsmouth and back in a rough sea at an average speed of over 30 knots.

This indeed is the characteristic which constitutes the motor torpedo-boats of to-day such a great advance over her prototypes.

Seeing, however, that some of the railways now under operation are not on a profit-making basis, the General Direction, says the same report, is now working out a 10-year elaborate programme for the exploitation on a larger scale of agricultural and other natural resources in the districts traversed by these lines so that they may be made to pay.

Much importance, it is said is attached to this programme in association with the reported intention of the South Manchuria Railway Company to enforce an ambitious plan for the introduction of mechanized farming methods in Manchuria as advanced by President Yosuke Matsuo.

According to the same report, the General Direction for this purpose is studying the question of creating within itself a new Industry Department to supervise and facilitate industrial activities throughout the country with a view to placing railway operation on a paying basis.

IMPORTANT TO LIVER SUFFERERS

By Dr. Quignot Of The Faculty Of Medicine, Paris

Just now I am kept very busy by an epidemic of "liver" disorders—a great many people feeling "out of sorts," bilious, depressed and unable to enjoy their food. Undoubtedly the best remedy for an upset liver is provided by certain famous Continental Mineral Springs, but science has now made it possible for all liver sufferers to enjoy, in their homes, all the benefits of Continental Spas treatment, at little cost. By reproducing in crystalline form the essential principles of seven world renowned Spas, including those at Vichy, Carlsbad, Aix-les-Bains and Martenbad, Alka Saltrates provides what is probably the finest liver tonic and corrective known. It is obtainable from all high class Dispensaries and Stores.

To men and women who are feeling liverish and "out of sorts," and to those who are suffering from Rheumatism, Lumbago, Kidney trouble and High Blood Pressure I can recommend Alka Saltrates, with confidence and I advise them to start the treatment without delay.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

First Church Of Christ, Scientist

Subject:—"SPIRIT."

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science Churches to-morrow, August 9, will be "SPIRIT."
The Golden Text will be: "Thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness." (Psalms 143: 10).

Amongst others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "The Pharisees also with the Sadducees came and tempting desired him that he would show them a sign from heaven. He answered and said unto them, When it is evening, ye say, It will be fair weather: for the sky is red. And in the morning, It will be foul weather to-day: for the sky is red and lowering. O ye hypocrites, ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky; but can ye not discern the signs of the times? But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his spirit: for the spirit searcheth all things; yea the deep things of God. For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the spirit of God." (Matthew 13: 1-3—1 Corinthians 2: 9-11).

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

"All we correctly know of Spirit comes from God, divine Principle, and is learned through Christ and Christian Science. It is recorded that Jesus, as he once journeyed with his students, 'Knew their thoughts'—read them scientifically. In like manner he discerned disease and healed the sick. After the same method, events of great moment were foretold by the Hebrew prophets. Our Master rebuked the lack of this power when he said: 'O ye hypocrites! ye can discern the face of the sky; but can ye not discern the signs of the times?' How much more should we seek to apprehend the spiritual ideas of God, than to dwell on the objects of sense! To discern the rhythm of Spirit and to be holy, thought must be spiritual. Paul said, 'To be spiritually minded is life.' We approach God or Life in proportion to our spirituality, our fidelity to Truth and Love; and in that ratio, we know all human need and are able to discern the thought of the sick and sinning for the purpose of healing them."

BURGLAR SENDS FAMILY TREASURES BACK BY POST

London, July 23.
During the absence of the occupier a burglar or burglars broke into a house in Trevor-place (formerly known as Hill-street), Knightsbridge, and stole small articles of jewellery valued at £150.

RAIN SPOILS KING'S GARDEN RECEPTION

200 Disappointed Debutantes.

COLOURFUL GOWNS HIDDEN

London, July 22.
Rain interrupted the presentation of debutantes to the King at the afternoon reception in the gardens of Buckingham Palace yesterday.

It was the first occasion in history on which debutantes have curtailed to their Sovereign in mackintoshes. Several fled past in decorative rain proofs over their garden party frocks as the rain began to fall.

Only about half the presentations had been made when the rain stopped the proceedings. Those who were not presented handed in their cards to the Lord Chamberlain, the Earl of Cromer. Later the following statement was issued:

"The Lord Chamberlain is commanded to announce that those ladies summoned to this Afternoon's Reception who, owing to the interruption of this ceremony by the weather, were unable to pass the King's presence, will be considered as having been officially presented at Court."

Some of the new officials appointed to the Royal Household performed their duties for the first time at the reception. Among these were the Duke of Sutherland, the new Lord Steward, and the Duke of Beaufort, the new Master of the Horse, who were received by the King just before the reception began.

THE KING'S GARDENIA

The first garden Court of its kind was a very dignified affair until the rain came, one debutante's mother told me.

The King wore a dark grey morning suit, and a grey top hat, with a white gardenia in his button-hole. He came out of the Palace just before 3.30 p.m., and took his place under the red and gold Shamiana Durbar tent which King George brought back from India.

Nearly every woman guest, in obedience to the King's expressed wish, wore a colourful gown. Wide-brimmed hats were chosen by most, and nearly all had long white gloves.

Members of the Royal Family, including the Duchess of York and the Duchess of Kent, wore silver fox capes.

The Duchess of Kent's choice of a half mourning hat was a close-fitting toque of pearly velvet, worn with a gown in a cyclamen tone of mauve.

The Duchess of York, Lady Maud Carnegie, and another member of the Royal circle, Lady Carisbrooke, wore black and white. The Duchess of York's frock was flower patterned, and she had a large black-and-white hat.

"It was very cold, and most women wore wraps," one of the guests told me.

There were two Royal processions. At exactly 25 minutes past three the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of Kent, Lord Carnegie and Lady Maud Carnegie, and the Ladies in Waiting proceeded across the lawn and stood behind the chair of State.

"Secondly came a procession consisting only of men—Court official and the Gentlemen Ushers and the King. The King walked straight across, and stood a front of his crimson and gold chair.

THE FIRST RAIN

"Mrs. Anthony Eden then made presentations on behalf of the Foreign Office, and Miss Regis de Oliveira, wife of the Brazilian Ambassador made the presentations on behalf of the Diplomatic Corps.

"The debutantes and those being presented on marriage then made their curtsies. They went by very quickly."

The first rain came at about four o'clock, but soon stopped. Twenty minutes later, however, it began to come down more heavily.

The King stood up and looked at the sky. After a word or two with Lord Cromer he ordered the function to be abandoned, and Lord Cromer and his officials explained the position to more than 200 debutantes who were still waiting.

In the meanwhile many of the other guests had crowded into the tea tents, where the King and other members of the Royal family also remained for some time.

At about ten minutes to five, the rain stopped and the King

MAHARAJAH'S TEMPLE

His Own Cooks, And Water Supply From The Ganges

London, July 17.

Since his arrival in London yesterday evening the Maharajah of Mysore, first reigning prince of that State to visit England and one of the wealthiest men to come to London, has not stirred from the suite of eleven rooms which have been specially prepared for him in the Dorchester Hotel, writes a correspondent.

This morning he received visits only from his personal friends, among whom were one of his nephews who wore Western dress—the Maharajah himself wears Indian robes—and Sir Stuart Fraser, who for several years was his English teacher and adviser in Mysore.

Sir Stuart remained with the Maharajah for the earlier part of the morning.

Since the arrival of the Maharajah and his retinue of 40, Indian guards have stood at the doors of his rooms.

I went over the rooms just before the party arrived and saw the preparations for the Maharajah's visit. The suite is on the first floor and extends all round one corner of the hotel looking out on to the park.

The principal sitting-room is on the corner, and has been filled with bowls of carnations and tiger lilies on the low tables.

SCRUBBED, BOARDS

Several other inter-connecting rooms house the Maharajah's personal staff.

Leading from a small ante-room next to the main rooms is a temporary temple.

Workmen had just left it when I saw it, and it had been stripped of all its usual furniture, even of carpets. Heavy curtains were pulled across the windows shutting out all daylight. From the walked back to the Palace. Some of the guests waited a little while longer and then left.

centre of the ceiling hung a single chandelier and down one wall were the doors of built-in wardrobes.

The plain boards of the floor were thoroughly scrubbed by the workmen, and then the Indian attendants took over the room. In a slightly raised alcove in one corner, I am told, a small golden figure of the special deity of the Maharajah's family has been placed. The room is now sacred ground and anybody who enters it must first remove his shoes.

The suite itself has been taken over by the Indian servants who arrived with 150 cases of luggage, and bottles of sacred Ganges water for the Maharajah to drink. Any other water which is required will be blessed by one of the two priests before he touches it.

The Indian retinue have also taken over the small private section of the hotel kitchen, where all his food is prepared by his own cooks.

NO SHADOW

He eats only vegetables, mostly rice, which must be cooked in a specific way.

No person's shadow must fall on the food while it is being prepared, otherwise it is defiled. For this reason only the cooks are allowed in the kitchen while the food is being cooked.

Yesterday evening some small alterations had to be made in the kitchen's fittings, but the workmen were not allowed to enter until the food had been taken upstairs to the Maharajah's suite.

The Maharajah's visit is to be mainly a private one, and it is understood that before he leaves for the Continent next September he will consult Harley-street specialists about his health.

The visit will also include, however, some political discussions with British statesmen. The Maharajah is to interview Mr. Baldwin and Lord Zetland, the Secretary for India.

KAY FRANCIS

Lovely star of "I Found Stella Parish," the first National hit playing at the Star Theatre.

I FOUND STELLA PARISH

"I Found Stella Parish," a first National picture, based on the powerful and thrillingly dramatic story by John Monk Saunders, closes at the Star Theatre today. Kay Francis heads the talented cast which includes Ian Hunter, Paul Lukas, Sybil Jason, Jessie Ralph and Barton MacLane.

Miss Francis has the role of a beautiful and talented actress who is besieged by suitors, including her theatrical producer, but who rejects all offers of marriage.

The publicity attending her success reaches the ears of her husband and father of her small daughter, who tries to blackmail her. Terrified lest he betray her secret and ruin both her life and that of her child, she flees from London the very night she has made a sensational hit.

Her strange disappearance intrigues a rising young journalist, a part played by Ian Hunter. He discovers she is sailing for America in disguise and follows her aboard the ship. Making the acquaintance of her daughter, and finally of the actress herself, he worms his way into her confidence and obtains enough information to discover her secret which he reveals in a sensational dispatch to his newspaper.

Before the actress learns that her secret is out, she goes to the journalist and tells him all of her past, after confessing that she loves him. He cables frantically to London to suppress his story, but is too late.

Stunned by the scandal, and what she considers the peridy of the man she loves, she hides her daughter and signs up for a sensational tour of the cheap theatres. Step by step she is dragged lower and lower in her profession. At the same time the journalist, awakened to the fact that he loves the woman and to the injustice he has done her, is leaving no stone unturned to bring

Jean Arthur as the Ex-Mrs. Bradford. You will see her with William Powell in this exciting murder mystery, told from the angle of a merry romance and incidentally was the only American film selected for showing on the maiden voyage of the "Queen Mary." This picture will be screened at the Queen's Theatre on Sunday.

SONG AND DANCE MAN

AT THE KING'S

There are two things about "Song and Dance Man," at the King's Theatre, that prevent it being just another back-stage picture of the usual and generally entertaining variety. The first is the way a telephone operator of unknown identity chews gum like a hungry cow while she indulges in the most vivid and outlandish gossip with an unseen friend who evidently does nothing but listen. Parts of the operator's tale of woe must have been the prize products of Hollywood "gagmen." The second thing peculiar to this particular film is an amusing proposal of marriage made by Lieut. Mike Boyle of the police force to Patsy O'Madigan (Ruth Donnelly).

Having received nothing but abrupt dismissals throughout his humble courtship, he suddenly becomes really tough when the time comes to propose. The result is a good laugh.

Miss Claire Trevor plays the inevitable part of the poor girl trying to make good on Broadway with a good deal of charm. Paul Kelly again is relegated to the role of a self-sacrificing friend who loves her, but, after much verbal conflict, directs her to another who can offer more, whereupon he makes a cheerfully broken-hearted exit.

With this picture "The Vienna Cabaret" vaudeville entertainers are still delighting the crowded houses with their repertoire of dances and songs in an entirely new programme.

GAS MASK DEPOTS FOR SCOTLAND

London, July 18.

Plans for the storage and distribution of gas masks in Scottish centres are now being prepared by the Air Raid Precautions Department of the Home Office, in collaboration with the Scottish Office. There is no intention of issuing masks to the public unless in case of emergency, but a carefully organised scheme of distribution is being worked out. Fortunately large areas of Scotland are outwith the possible danger zone from air raids, and the gas-mask depots will be concentrated in the southern and central districts of the country. People who wish to try the official "as near perfect as possible" gas masks will have the opportunity of doing so at the various depots.

her back to the heights from which she had fallen. The clever ruse by which he achieves this aim brings about the amazing and thrilling climax.

Paul Lukas has the role of the theatrical producer who loved the actress.

Sybil Jason, the six year old Capetown, South Africa child star, who made her American film debut as the star of "Little Big Shot" plays the part of Miss Francis' young daughter. The blackmailing husband is enacted by Barton MacLane while Jessie Ralph plays the role of the actress' confidante.

SHIPYARD'S 170 SUBMARINES

VESSEL LAUNCHED AT BARROW

London, July 22.

There was launched from Victoria-Armstrong's shipyard construction works, Barrow, yesterday the British submarine, Rorqual. The vessel was named by Lady Bessie, wife of Sir Vincent W. Stansfeld, M.C., formerly Deputy Secretary of the Admiralty.

At the subsequent luncheon Sir Vincent Stansfeld said when he went to the Admiralty over 31 years ago Mr. Goschen was First Lord, and he and his board had been anxiously watching developments of that new potent in warship building—the submarine—in France, which was then their chief rival at sea.

They felt it was wise to let the experimental work be carried out in the French Navy, and if it proved a failure they could rejoice that they had kept the money in their Exchequer, but when Mr. Goschen retired he told his successor that in his judgment the time of waiting had come to an end and the success of the French submarines made it necessary to build such vessels for the British Fleet.

So the British Government bought one boat from the Holland Boat Company of America, and after testing it asked the firm of Vickers-Maxim, as it was then called, to make a contract with the Holland Boat Company for the construction of five such boats for the Royal Navy.

They all knew that Britain had wished to abolish submarines by international agreement, but they had little support for the proposal, and they had perforce to go on building them.

Sir Vincent complimented Vickers-Armstrongs on their warship work, and said that their chairman, Sir Charles Craven, was one of the most remarkable captains of industry of the day.

The Rorqual is the 170th submarine which has been launched at Barrow.

"VISION" CURED HIM

THE MAN WITH THE BROKEN THIGH

London, July 23.

As the result of a "vision" in the hospital at Chinsurah (Bengal), where he had been admitted with a broken thigh, a fute mill worker has recovered in one night.

The man, on entering the hospital, was X-rayed, and a major operation was fixed for the following day.

The patient, terrified at the thought of the operation, which he was convinced would kill him, prayed the night through.

In the morning he was found jumping about merrily in the courtyard outside. He said that while asleep he saw a vision in which a stranger appeared and gently touch his fractured thigh and asked him to walk.

The surgeons, to their surprise, found no trace of the fracture.

TRADE MARK CASE

JUDGMENT RESERVED

The proceedings against the Paul Battery Co. and the Sunlight Co. concluded before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday. Mr. Schofield stated that he would deliver judgment on Monday at 2.30 p.m. These two companies were summoned for the possession of batteries and labels to which Trade Marks, so nearly resembling those of "Ever-ready batteries" had been applied so as to be calculated to deceive.

The summonses originally referred to two Marks, namely Trade Mark No. 7 of 1930 and No. 211 of 1928. At one of the previous hearings Mr. Schofield discharged the defendants on the second charge.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon, K.C., instructed by Mr. D. L. Strellett, appeared for the defendant arms, while Mr. G. S. Hugh-Jones represented the complainant firm.

Mr. Sheldon, at the opening of yesterday's proceedings, stated that he was not calling any further evidence. He submitted that there was no evidence upon which to convict in view of the fact that there was no evidence to show that the alleged infringement was calculated to deceive. It had been shown that the Trade Mark No. 211 had not been used in any part of the world for the past six or seven years.

Mr. Sheldon quoted cases in support of his case and further submitted that there was no resemblance.

The whole purpose of the Merchants' Ordinance, went on Mr. Sheldon, was to protect the merchants. If it was the law that a man could register a Trade Mark, lie low for six or seven years, and then take out proceedings for infringement, then it would be better if the laws were changed. That was not the law, stated Mr. Sheldon, the law was to protect merchants.

AGAINST COMPETING

This case, he intimated, had not been brought forward with the idea of protecting the 1928 mark, it was to try and restrain the defendants from competing with the 1930 Mark.

Mr. Hugh-Jones said that with regard to the suggestion put forward by the defence that there was no evidence to show that the mark was calculated to deceive, if His Worship were to look at the Marks and see the similarity then that itself would be prima facie evidence that it was meant to deceive. Mr. Waters had given evidence that in this and other parts of the world, the goods were bought by the illiterate classes and thus the similarity was therefore stronger for these reasons.

The defence had further suggested that the Mark No. 211 of 1928 had not been used in various parts of the world for the past seven years. In that connection Mr. Hugh-Jones pointed out that in the evidence of Mr. Waters he had stated that the mark was still being used in China. In cross-examination Mr. Waters had said that he had seen the goods in the Shanghai ghetto.

The mere appearance of the labels themselves, submitted Mr. Hugh-Jones, was sufficient ground to surmise that they were intended to deceive the incautious purchaser.

At the conclusion of the addresses by both counsels, Mr. Schofield said that he would deliver his judgment on Monday afternoon.

THEFT BY FINDING

UNLICENSED
RICKSHAW COOLIE
FINED

On a charge of the theft by finding of a pair of spectacles, belonging to Mr. H. R. Pinna, of No. 25, Kimberley Road, Chiu Chun, 25, unlicensed rickshaw coolie, was fined $5 or, in default, 14 days' imprisonment by Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court yesterday.

Det-Sgt. Davies, of the Water Police, stated that Mr. Pinna and a friend travelled in rickshaws pulled by defendant and his brother from the Far East Garage, Nathan Road, to Mr. Pinna's residence. After discharging their passengers both rickshaws went to Mody Road where the defendant's brother found the spectacles in his rickshaw and gave them to defendant telling him they belonged

HUNGHOM MURDER CASE CONCLUDES

Evidence Of Cause
Of Death

DEFENCE RESERVED

Yung Shing, blacksmith, and his brother, Yung Ming, vegetable hawker, were committed to the Criminal Sessions by Mr. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court yesterday on a charge of the murder of a 49-year-old gurdener, Ip Kiu, in a hut on the hillside at Hau Pul Loong, Hung Hom, on the night of July 18.

Mr. R. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, together with Det-Insp. A. H. Elston, conducted the case for the Crown while the accused were not legally represented.

At Thursday's hearing the accused alleged that their eldest brother, Yung Wing, 44, who was one of the witnesses for the Crown, had always been threatening to kill them (accused). This Yung Wing denied.

Yesterday, Dr. G. H. Henry, officer-in-charge of the Kowloon Mortuary, deposed to the post mortem examination on the body of Ip Kiu and stated that the cause of death was a severed brachial artery of the right arm and bleeding.

Shown a singlet bearing two cuts on it, the witness stated that the two wounds on the deceased's chest corresponded with the cuts on the singlet.

ALMOST BLOODLESS

Describing other injuries, Dr. Henry said that there was an irregular shaped wound on the front of the right elbow, 5½ inches long and 2½ inches deep; the underlying muscles exposed the brachial artery which was completely severed in half above the bend of the elbow. The internal organs were almost bloodless.

Dr. Henry stated that the knife exhibited in Court could have inflicted the wounds described. Considerable force must have been used to inflict the blow because the knife was not sharp.

On examination of the first accused, witness found that his knuckles were abraded. The accused complained of bodily pains as did the second accused but both their bodies did not show much sign of having been in a fight in which poles, bars and knives were used. The second accused had a small swelling on the top of his head.

Det-Sgt. D. G. MacPherson gave evidence after which Insp. Elston described the scene of the crime. He stated that he found a trail of blood from hut No. 4 to the kitchen of hut No. 3 and there were wet blood splashes on the doors and walls of the passage. He found the knife in a basket of wood chips.

Police Interpreter Fu Yuk-ching testified to the accused's statements in answer to the charge. The accused reserved their defence.

EXPULSION ORDER AGAINST AMERICANS

Corporal W. B. Underwood and Private J. B. Mears, two American soldiers from the American Army in Manila were charged before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday with having entered the Colony without valid passports.

Sergeant R. A. Loughlin stated that the soldiers were under the influence of liquor and when they came to they found themselves on board the s.s. Tandu bound for Hong Kong. They reported themselves to the Captain who handed them over to the Police on arrival here.

An expulsion order was made against the defendants.

to Mr. Pinna. On August 5, a detective was searching the Yuen Sang pawnshop when a small boy entered with the spectacles to pawn. When questioned the lad stated that he had been given them by Chiu Chun, of 109, Canton Road. The spectacles were valued at $21.

CLOTHES STOLEN

Lee Wah, 32, and Lee Yeung, 25, both unemployed, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday charged with the larceny of a raincoat, a woolen jersey, a blanket, four jackets, 2 pairs of trousers, the property of two messenger boys of the St. John Ambulance Headquarters, Tai Hang.

Acting Sub-Inspector Madge-wick stated that the defendants were seen by a man stealing the clothes at about 1.30 a.m. They were chased and arrested.

First defendant was sentenced to 2 months and the second to 6 weeks.

ONLY A BRUISE

Appearing on remand before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday on a charge of assault, Wu Cheng, 30, a licensed rickshaw driver, was bound over in $25 for one year.

The charge was that the defendant assaulted Cheung Hon-fan, 27, a rickshaw inspector, outside the Ko Shing Theatre on July 30. Det-Sgt. Riddell stated that there was nothing in the case, the complainant only had a slight bruise on his chest.

SPINSTER CONVICTED

Charged with the theft of a gold jade ring and a gold bracelet, valued at $49.50 on July 22, Lo Yin Kiu, 18, a spinster appeared on remand before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday.

Det-Sgt. Riddell who was in charge of the prosecution stated the defendant could not find the money necessary to redeem the article.

Defendant was sentenced to a fine of $50 or 6 weeks, and was ordered to pay $8.77 amends or 10 days.

HEROIN SEIZURE

For the possession of 1,983 heroin pills at 137, Temple Street, ground floor, Yip Kan, 42, who had previous convictions, and Wan Tak, 55, were each fined $1,000 with the option of six months' hard labour by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Police Court yesterday. Yip Kan was additionally fined $30 or two months for the possession of 24 tablets of illicit opium. Revenue Officer J. L. Stephens prosecuted.

BANISHEES GAOLED

Chan Shing, 74, and Lam Kwai, who returned from banishment before their respective terms of ten years each had expired, were sentenced to twelve months' hard labour each by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Police Court yesterday. Inspector R. Shannon prosecuted.

GARAGE THEFT

On the application of Det-Sgt. J. Hunter, Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court yesterday granted a remand of 72 hours in police custody when Leung Fuk, 35, unemployed, was charged with the theft from an unnumbered garage, Cox's Road, of three pieces of fur, a pair of leather gloves, a silk scarf, a tweed scarf, a yellow pull-over, a white singlet, a blue jacket, and opera glasses, the property of Wong Kung, 26, car cleaner.

KEY THAT DIDN'T FIT

When Li Tung appeared on remand before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court yesterday charged with the theft of two Leghorn chickens the property of Mr. A. A. Lopes, of 222 Prince Edward Road, and the possession of a picklock, it was stated by Det-Sgt. R. Cunningham that when the defendant was taken back to Yaumatei police station on Thursday he told the police that he did not wish to go to Wongnei-chung to fetch his box as the key found in his possession did not fit the lock. It was another key. Sentences totalling six weeks' hard labour were passed and the picklock was confiscated.

JAPANESE FINED

Shiro Miyoshi, a Japanese aged 27, appeared in the Central Court yesterday before Mr. S. F. Balfour charged with having entered the Colony without a valid passport. The defendant was fined $15 on the understanding that arrangements would be made for a passport.

THEFT OF KEY

Chan Ah-mo alias Chan Ah-yau, aged 39, appeared before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday charged with the theft of an iron water key from the Water Works Department in Pok-

DEBTOR GIVEN DISCHARGE

Bankruptcy Court Decision

In a hearing before the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, K.C., in the Bankruptcy Court yesterday, Frederico Alberto Baptista was discharged.

When his Lordship asked if there were any notices of opposition, the Official Receiver, J. B. Prentis, replied in the negative.

However, there were three Indians in the Court who were creditors of the debtor, but their oppositions were over-ruled by the Chief Justice.

Pahan Singh said that the debtor, still owing him money, should pay it according to contract as he (the debtor) was employed.

The Chief Justice: Were you paid as much as you lent him?

Pahan Singh: I never kept any of the accounts, so I cannot tell.

The Chief Justice: The Official Receiver said that you had received every penny you lent this man.

Bengali Singh, the next opposer of the discharge, said that he didn't count the money which had been repaid him previous to the application for bankruptcy. The Chief Justice: The Official Receiver said that you had received every penny you lent this man.

At this juncture, D. L. Savalini, a silk merchant, informed His Lordship that the debtor still owed him for purchases. The fact, however, that he had received over the usual 42 per cent. allowed, prompted the Chief Justice's ending this hearing by saying, "This is one occasion where you have failed to make the usual profit."

TRADE COMMISSIONER ROBBED

Beer, Coco Cola And Cigarettes

COOK CHARGED

A rattan basket, three tins of Clipper cigarettes, two bottles of Asahi beer and four bottles of Coco Cola, was what Cheuk Chuen, 22, cook, stole from his employer, Mr. K. F. Noble, Acting Canadian Trade Commissioner, residing at No. 14, Tak Shing Street, first floor. Cheuk appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday and pleaded guilty.

Detective Sergt. J. Hunter, of the Yau-mat C.I.D., prosecuting, stated that the defendant received a salary of $25 a month. The total value of the stolen property was $3. There was no criminal record against the man.

The defendant was ordered to pay $25 fine or serve three weeks in prison.

Arising out of the same case, Wong Hing, 19, unemployed, was charged with receiving the articles.

Sergt. Hunter stated that there was only the evidence of the detective against him. The defendant was stopped by the detective in Tsun Sha Tsui district. He was carrying a basket containing the mineral waters and cigarettes.

When questioned by the detective he stated he had been ordered by a European to get them from a comrade's shop but later admitted receiving the goods from first defendant at 14, Tak Shing Street.

The case against Wong was remanded.

SHRINE TEMPLE ORDER

Two Local Chinese Initiated

CEREMONY ON BOARD

After the arrival of the American Mail liner, President Grant, yesterday morning, there was enacted on board a most significant event to two local Chinese gentlemen who rank high in the community.

Mr. David W. K. Au, the manager of the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank Ltd., and Mr. T. M. Lee, the manager of the Bank of Communications were initiated into the order of the Shrine Temple, the highest order in the fraternal organization of Freemasonry.

As reported in our columns yesterday, the Shrine Temple, "the Nile Temple Pilgrimage Tour," were en route to Manila. In the group were Tom W. Holman, Potentate of the Nile Temple in Seattle; Berman Echoesfeld, Sr., of the well-known furniture store in Seattle which bears his name; O. B. Joseph; Arthur Franz; Cuyler Hayes; and Carl Thomas, all of whom assisted in the initiation.

Mr. T. B. Wilson, manager of the American Mail Line in Hong Kong, was on hand to greet the group as a representative of the Shrine Temple in the Colony.

After the initiation the group was to attend a luncheon at the invitation of Mr. Au.

The Shrine Convention, which was held in Seattle from July 13-15, was the largest convention held in America this year. There was a crowd of 100,000 to witness the grand parade in which the Shrine members wore their multi-coloured garments and fez.

Mr. Schoenfeld, Sr., was the Chairman of the Publicity Committee, and was on the executive committee.

Their slogan for the convention was "Smile with Nile," and it was the 82nd Imperial council session.

DELIGHTFUL CRUISE

When asked to give his impression of China, Mr. Holman, the Potentate of the Nile Temple, said: "No words of mine could express the feelings I have of this delightful cruise. We were shown unequalled courtesy at every Oriental port, and the consideration which everyone bestowed on us is quite beyond words."

We are on our way to Manila for a ceremonial. On our way home we are stopping here for a visit to Canton. Then, in Shanghai and Yokohama we will also hold ceremonials. Eight of the party will take a trip to Peking, and will return to the States on the President Jefferson. Altogether, the cruise will last about forty three days, and I can't think of any other forty three days which will be as well spent."

SHIPPING AGENT SUMMONED

Sequel To Accident In Tsun Wan

CONSTABLE INJURED

B. O. Williams, Assistant General Agent of the States Steamship Company, pleaded guilty before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday to a summons for driving car 245 without due care and caution in Castle Peak Road.

A fine of $25 was inflicted. Acting Sub-Inspector A. R. Brittain, of the Kowloon Traffic Office, stated that defendant was driving along Castle Peak Road near the 10th milestone towards Tsun Wan. He was on a straight piece of road about 100 yards in length. There were two Indian constables walking on the left side of the road in the same direction the car was travelling and another constable was on the right side of the road. The defendant's car struck one of the constables, P.C. 1119 who was injured and had to go to hospital for five days. Defendant stopped and afterwards reported to Tsun Wan Police Station.

Defendant: I was going back from the 11 mile beach about 9.30 or 9.45 and was driving my friend's car and we were talking. I was conscious that the pedestrians were there but carelessly I did not give them enough room.

A. S. I. Brittain: The defendant has a clear record. He has been driving in Hong Kong about one year. He produced a United States licence.

LORRY DRIVERS WHO SPEED

Recent Accidents At Tsun Wan

DRIVER FINED $25

A lorry driver, Lin Chuen, whose licence was suspended on July 22, was summoned before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday $25 for speeding while driving lorry 4214 along Castle Peak Road on July 13 last at 5.45 p.m.

Mr. W. La B. Sparrow, Superintendent of Police (Kowloon): I followed this man going towards Tsun Wan and from the top of the hill to the bottom he was doing 35 m.p.h. most of the way down and at the bottom he was doing about 25 miles an hour. He had a fairly full load up and there have been several accidents in which lorry drivers have been involved recently on the hill itself and in the vicinity there and there is a good deal of this speeding by lorry drivers going on on this road at present. I would like your Worship to take a serious view of this case. His licence was suspended on July 22.

His Worship imposed a fine of $25 and when the defendant stated he had no money to pay as his licence had been suspended was told that the option would be two weeks' gaol.

EUROPEAN FINED

H. Sauerbeck, of the Orient Tobacco Manufactory, was fined $6 for driving his car $356 on the right hand side of the nullah in Waterloo Road. Defendant stated he used that part of the road everyday to drive into Dundas Street but on this occasion he changed his mind and continued along "Waterloo Road. There was previously a sign, "One Way," said defendant, but it was not there any more.

A. S. I. Brittain stated the police had no objection to the defendant driving on the right hand side of Waterloo Road to Dundas Street but if he chose to change his mind and continue towards Nathan Road then he was on the wrong side of the thoroughfare.

Sergt. R. F. G. White was the complainant.

POPULAR SPORTSMAN TO MARRY

Mr. J. J. Ferguson And Miss Young

AT UNION CHURCH

One of the leading and most popular sportsmen in the Colony is going altarwards this afternoon.

He is Mr. James Johnston Ferguson, school master and Interport rugby player, who is being married to Miss Phyllis Louise Ogilvie Young at the Hong Kong Union Church at 3 p.m.

Mr. Ferguson was appointed to the Education Department on July 18, 1930, and arrived in the Colony on August 14 to take up his duties as Assistant Master at King's College where he has been ever since.

Mr. Ferguson is M. A. (Edinburgh) Dip. Ed. (London). Shortly after his arrival he soon became adapted to the Colony's sporting activities and excelled in rugby, tennis, hockey and athletics. He played for the Colony rugby team against Shanghai both in the Northern port and in Hong Kong. He was prominent as a three-quarter.

At hockey, Mr. Ferguson played for the Y.M.C.A. team while at tennis, he turned out for the "T" but during the past few seasons has been a stalwart member of the Central British Association league tennis team.

Mr. Ferguson is a sprinter of no mean ability, and incidentally, is the record holder for putting the shot at the Volunteer sports. He is a keen member of the No. 2 (Scottish) Company of the Volunteer Defence Corps.

He organised the now defunct Kowloon Rugby Club which during its existence enjoyed a fair measure of success.

Apart from his sporting achievements, Mr. Ferguson has also excelled in literary circles at the Y.M.C.A. and as an entertainer. He is an accomplished piano and accordion player and was heard

OUR SWATOW LETTER

THE POLITICAL SITUATION

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Swatow, Aug. 7.
Since writing my last letter there has been nothing much to write about.

With regard to the political situation, the populace is now enjoying a reign of peace. Previous to the settlement of affairs between North and South much apprehension was in evidence. The local side took all the precautions necessary but nothing untoward happened. The British Consul even made sure what his subjects should do in case of emergency. Now that conditions are more settled, it is hoped that Swatow will be blessed with eternal peace.

Consequent upon the present modus vivendi, trade prospects are very, very bright indeed. The merchants heartily welcome the announcement from Nanking of cancelling and abolishing all the internal taxes, and when these actually go the last pages of the book of oppression will have been closed. The number of the various taxes to which the people have been subjected runs close to a hundred. Originally each article of commodity had its own separate tax bureau, but later all were incorporated into one tax bureau known as "Lung San Kok." However, only the Consolidated Tax Bureau will continue to function. The tax on kerosene, spirit of wine, matches, benzine and the like, will be collected by this bureau as before. One great relief to importers and consumers is the cancellation of the local rice tax. Formerly Chinese rice firms were unable to compete with Japanese importers as the latter need not pay the tax. The new ruling brings every importer on equal footing.

A GOOD BLOW

Last Saturday night we had a pretty good blow here. The damage done was comparatively small; many matcheds were blown away and trees uprooted and a few houses collapsed. The floating community were none the worse for the experience.

From the beginning of this month another new form of tax has been imposed by the City Government. In this case the dogs become the subject matter. Every dog owner must register with the Municipality and pay a licence fee of 20 cents for each dog. Foreigners are not exempt from the new imposition as a Circular has been sent out by the British Consul calling the attention of his subjects to this effect. It does not seem that any one is taking the matter all too seriously for, until now, no dog can be seen with a brass ticket on its neck as called for by the regulation. One wonder if the cat is next to be taxed or for that matter the pet bird even!

NOTHING WRONG WITH HIM

Banishée Causes Laughter

A returned banishée, Lau Fat, was convinced he had a fractured leg so Mr. Macfadyen remanded him for medical examination.

At the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, Lau heard his fate.

The medical report stated there was no fracture of the leg. In fact, there was nothing wrong!

Lau: The doctor did not examine me. He made me run around.

His Worship: And you were able to run about?

His Worship: Six months hard labour. I hope you will get over your pain!

Lau was charged with disobeying his deportation order.

CUTICURA CLEARED MY SKIN. IT'S
THE BEST
I HAVE EVER USED"

The Cuticura Method

1. Cleanse the skin twice a day with Cuticura Soap.
2. Use Cuticura Ointment in conjunction with the soap.

This simple, economical treatment has proved its value to millions of women all over the world. The luxuriant mildly antiseptic lather of Cuticura Soap cleanses the skin to the very depths of the pores, washes away deeply embedded dust and grime, clears and softens the skin. And to clear the skin of pimples, enlarged pores, ugly red coarse patches, irritating spots, apply Cuticura Ointment direct on the affected skin a few moments before washing with the soap.

These gentle soothing emollients are all you require to make your skin clear and healthy, your complexion smooth, lovely and attractive. Don't envy the girl whose clear skin and complexion make her so attractive.

A BRITISH "POPULAR FRONT"?

Convention keynotes to right of them, party promises to left of them, still the American people have no monopoly on political contradictions. The possibility of Mr. Stanley Baldwin's retirement in the not distant future keeps certain problems alive in Britain, the right answers to which would soothe the brow of many political leaders.

Although few countries in Europe, or, for that matter, in the world, might more justly be characterized as "liberal" than Great Britain, for the last fourteen years her government has been predominantly Conservative. This is due not so much to a playing for safety on the part of the electorate in returning Conservatives as to the divisions among progressives, who include Liberals, moderate Labour men, extreme Labour, and a few Communists; these have only sometimes succeeded in co-operating in Parliament, and never in the elections. The gain has been to the Conservatives.

On the other hand, under a Government professedly national and nonparty, the Conservatives, though in a majority, have not had it all their own way. There has necessarily been much consideration for the nominally Liberal and Labour elements which support it; moreover, the Conservative Party itself now includes a progressive Left Wing. Divisions within the majority that supports the ministry have recently militated against strong government. Moreover Mr. Baldwin has attempted—perhaps to his grief—to please all shades of opinion.

But the changes that will follow if Mr. Baldwin retires will probably strengthen the Right Wing elements in the Government. Therefore, progressively minded politicians are anxiously considering what can be done to fortify their own side and increase the weight of the large body of opinion they represent. Is there any possibility of constructing in Britain a Popular Front in any way comparable with the 'Front Populaire' which has just carried the liberal and radical elements to power in France?

There are intellectuals in the Labour Party deeply conscious of the fact that the progressive forces cannot gain power until they win the co-operation or at least the passive support of the Center. There is much in common between progressive Conservatives, Liberals and moderate Labour men—and three quarters of the country, perhaps, is represented by them. Yet they do not determine policy. There is no co-operation. There are a few persons behind the scenes who are trying to work for some understanding, but their chief difficulty lies in the fact that the official Labour Party is very jealous of its party rights. It is willing to welcome outsiders into its fold, but not to work with them while they are without the fold.

But the extremists are less powerful to-day than they have been at any time since the war. It is possible that the Labour Party may listen to a proposal which will be submitted to it—that it should defer its ultimate Socialist programme, and con-

INVASION OF SUIYUAN

Serious Situation In The East

TWO ATTACKS REPULSED

Peiping, Aug. 7.
A reliable Chinese report from Kueihau, capital of Suiyuan province, describes the situation in the eastern part of the province as serious.

Troops of Li Shau-hsin, who seized six districts in North Chahar last winter, is reported to have twice attacked the Suiyuan garrisons near Taoling, first on July 30 and again on August 2, but each time they were repulsed, the attackers losing 100 to 200 in killed and wounded.

General Fu Tso-yi, Governor of Suiyuan, yesterday confirmed to the pressmen at Kueihau the fact that there has been fighting, adding that it is peaceful at present but he had ordered resistance if further invasion is attempted.

LONDON RAILWAY PROGRAMME

Big Orders For British Industries

London, Aug. 7.
Next year's construction programme of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway Company involving an expenditure of £3,250,000 will mean big orders for many British industries. The programme provides for 105 locomotives, including several of the Princess Royal-type, most powerful engines on the system, 210 locomotive boilers, 751 carriages and 12,105 wagons. Including the present programme, the Company will have spent £26,000,000 on rolling stock in thirteen years since its formation.

WOMAN PLANS LONG FLIGHT

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Berlin, Aug. 6.
The well known German woman aviator, Frau Eil Beinhorn-Rosenmayer has set herself the task to fly in a sport plane on one day in the three continents Asia, Europe and Africa.

The aviatrix, in her new Messerschmidt plane "Tafelberg" flew from Berlin to Damascus in 14 days, starting the flight in question at 20 minutes past midnight on Wednesday from Damascus for Cairo. By 3.40 Mrs. Beinhorn-Rosenmayer left Cairo for Athens, a distance of 1000 kilometres of which 950 are across open sea. After reaching Athens, Frau Rosenmayer will come to Berlin.

centrate on a moderate programme which could be supported by many outside their ranks. Such a policy would win them votes from the Center at a general election. And it is possible that a general election may not be so distant as has been commonly supposed, for at any time there may occur a split in the present Government's majority which might precipitate a crisis.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR ENTOMBED MINERS

Rescue Parties Face Ice Cold Conditions

London, August 7.
Hope has been abandoned for the 37 miners entombed as a result of yesterday's colliery explosion near Barnsley, Yorkshire. The cause of the accident is as yet unknown, but according to custom there will be an official enquiry. Magnificent work was done by would-be rescuers throughout yesterday, but their efforts had to be discontinued owing to gas.

For some reason not at present explained ice cold conditions prevailed and the rescue parties had to be provided with blankets and hot water bottles.

The King has sent a message expressing his great distress at the accident and conveying his deep sympathy to the bereaved relatives.
British Wireless.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

London, Aug. 7.
An official statement gives the number of missing in the Wharmcliffe Woodmoor Colliery, Barnsley, Yorkshire, as fifty-seven, including twenty-one known dead. After feverish efforts, from early morning, rescuers have now penetrated the timber and rock which blocked the shaft following the explosion, and have found numbers of bodies.

Some of the men had obviously been killed by the violence of the explosion, while the attitudes of others suggested they had been suffocated. A number of the bodies were badly mangled.

The whole of the workings has not yet been explored, but hitherto no trace of fire has been found. The cause of the explosion is at present unknown.

The miner named Brown, the only man rescued last night, has since died of the burns he sustained. He was brought out by a gallant engine-driver.

KOWLOON FOOTBALL CLUB MEETING

Past Season's Activities Reviewed

The Kowloon Football Club held their twenty-second annual general meeting of members at their pavilion yesterday when the report and accounts for last season were approved and new officers-elected for the ensuing season.

Mr. T. A. Mitchell, presiding, proposed the election of Mr. B. Hall as a Life Member, which was heartily endorsed by the meeting.

The President, Mr. T. A. Mitchell, said:—Gentlemen, The Report and Accounts for the Season 1935/36 having been in your hands for the prescribed period I shall, with your permission, take them as read.

Our Honorary Secretary, writing under the paragraph "Finance," considers a profit of £143.88 "very satisfactory" and from your Committee's viewpoint it must be considered so; but whether the ordinary members of the Club will agree is another point. To me, whilst satisfactory, it is disappointing, and only by a few words of explanation can I hope to convince members why it is considered not up to my expectation.

Last year we turned the corner with a team that I thought would give such an exhibition of football that our gates would show a material increase and so put your Committee in a position to have something concrete to place before you this evening regarding the Club-house.

The First Team did well, but unfortunately not well enough to put them on the upper half of the League table. They were not a threat to any of the teams running for honours, consequently poor attendances at their home games were experienced; but the most unfortunate part was the hurried close to the Season, and our inability to play mid-week games. There were certain revenue producing games which did not come up to expectations, which in a measure was due to the composition of the teams fielded by our rivals, arising out of circumstances not entirely under their control. This, of course, can be laid down to the manner in which the Football Association in years gone past has allowed Clubs to postpone and rearrange fixtures without taking into consideration any of the hardships that might befall others, and allowing depleted teams to turn out. I sincerely hope that in the ensuing Season the good resolutions that are held by the Hong Kong Football Association will be carried through and that fixtures are maintained in accordance with the programme laid down.

NEW CLUB-HOUSE

At last year's Meeting I regretted the absence of your Chairman, Mr. R. Hall; promised that on his return, when he again took over the reins of office, I would take an early opportunity of discussing with him the question of a new Club-house. Gentlemen, that discussion was held but it boiled itself down, as it has in former years, as to what we were going to use for money. All sorts of schemes for raising the money were discussed but with everyone pessimistic a workable scheme could not be framed. Consequently I have again to apologise for the main accrue from gates at football matches. Good teams receive the best support. It is therefore incumbent upon the players to carry out their part toward the Club's maintenance, which with last year's promised improvement in their play will doubtless be forthcoming.

Your Committee has worked exceptionally hard to keep the Club on the right side. Expenditure has been cut to a minimum, but there is one item that I must single out as a non-support proposition and that is the Tennis Section. Some members might think that this costs nothing once

DUCHESS NAMES NEW CRUISER

Her First Launch

London, July 24.
The Duchess of Kent yesterday for the first time saw a ship launch. She herself named and launched the cruiser Sheffield, of the Southampton class, at Vickers-Armstrong's naval yard at Walker-on-Tyne.

Performing the naming ceremony, the Duchess said: "I name this ship H.M.S. Sheffield, and wish everyone God's blessing who travels in her." Thousands of people, many of whom saw her for the first time, gave her Royal Highness a terrific welcome. The enthusiasm was particularly marked on her journey through one of the poorest parts of Newcastle.

At the yard a crowd of 10,000 mainly workmen and their families, saw the launching ceremony. The Duchess of Kent accompanied Sir Charles Craven, managing director of the company, across the crowded shipyard to the offices, where she was presented with a gift of seven pieces of plate.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

A dinner dance will be held on the Open Roof of Repulse Bay Lido—weather permitting—and at the Repulse Bay Hotel in event of bad weather, to-day at 9 p.m., and the usual tea dance will be held to-morrow at 5 p.m. at the Repulse Bay Hotel.

The R.M.A. "Dorado" left Hong Kong yesterday at 1.30 p.m. with 6,680 kilos. of freight and 88,272 kilos. of mail. There was no passenger carried.

One case each of Diphtheria and Enteric Fever were reported to the Health Authorities for the 24 hours ended on Thursday.

A marriage licence has been issued at the Registry Office to Jack Fraser Robinson, 35, of Messrs. Butterfield & Swire, residing at 53, Nathan Road, and Miss Jean Frances Marian Leach, 25, of 1855, West 12th Avenue, Vancouver, B.C.

On board the P. & O. liner Ralputana on her way to Shanghai which arrived here yesterday was Brigadier A. P. D. Telfer-Smollett, D.S.O., M.C., who is to relieve Brigadier F. S. Thackeray, D.S.O., M.C. in command of the Shanghai area. Brigadier Telfer-Smollett saw service in France, Belgium and Russia, and was often mentioned in despatches. He is the holder of the French War Cross, the 1914 Star, British War Medal, and Victory Medal in addition to his other decorations.

Mr. F. A. Howard, of the Chase Bank said au revoir last night to his wife, and his daughter, Sheila, who left on the Dollar liner, President Hoover, for America. Mr. Howard will join them later to spend a vacation at home.

The courts have been laid, but forget that we must renew from time to time the various nets and screens and pay for sufficient ball boys. I am of the opinion that better use could be made of the ground the hard Courts now occupy. It has been whispered to me that we should lose some members if we were to cut out the Tennis Section, but it is my opinion that we would gain more were we to offer something in its place, and as I understand there is a proposition to be put before the meeting later this evening regarding this, I will refrain from saying more on this subject.

FOOTBALL

I have already mentioned the First Eleven and I am hopeful that with the signatures we already have we shall be able to field practically the same team which showed so much improvement towards the end of last Season and with one or two signatures we expect to get before the Season starts we sincerely hope the wishes of the Committee will be fulfilled. They played as good football as most of the teams that came here and just that extra little bit of joss, usually necessary, would have shown us a different result.

Regarding the Second Eleven, I have nothing but praise for them. They managed to fulfill all their fixtures and very seldom did they turn out with a depleted team. Impatience of whether they had been beaten six-nothing the week

FRENCH WAR MATERIAL FOR MADRID

Sensational Report In Paris

ALLEGED ORDER BY WAR MINISTER

Immediate Shipment On Spanish Vessel

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Paris, August 7. "Action Française," an organ of the extreme right wing party, publishes the sensational report on Friday that the day before the War Minister, M. Daladier, personally gave the order for delivery in Madrid of eight well-known, 75 mm field guns, machine guns, six million cartridges and 1,000 ten-kilogram aerial bombs.

The paper adds that it is intended to ship this material on board a Spanish steamer at some French port on Friday.

NEW SPANISH WAR MINISTER

An official announcement states that Major Sarabia has been appointed War Minister in place of Castillo, who is taking active command of the Government's force. The new War Minister was several years the private secretary to President Azana.

HEAVY ENGAGEMENT

The correspondent in Hendaye of the Spanish news agency "Diana" reports that the battle at Oyazun village, near San Sebastian, was the severest of the whole civil war up to the present. The insurgents had three 105 centimetre cannon and captured Lesaca, which was, however, finally recaptured by Government troops after bitter fighting through the employment of armoured trains.

The correspondent states that the rail communication between the frontier station of Irun and San Sebastian has now been re-established.

STRATEGIC POINT TAKEN

It was announced here on Friday that government troops had succeeded in capturing the strategically important town of Vaena, in the province of Cordova.

The radio station of Trades Union, "Union General, Trabajadores," in now transmitting news bulletins in English, German, and Hungarian for the purpose, it is stated, of "refuting false reports of the Fascist press in foreign countries."

Members of a special government commission, "Junta de Levante," which had hitherto a seat in Valencia, paid a visit to Alicante, where they were accorded a ceremonial reception, and have now returned to Madrid. The Catalan Government has appointed a special representative to Madrid for the purpose of "re-establishing normal relations with the Central Government."

MADRID UNEASINESS

Well-informed circles do not anticipate any decisive events in Spain for several days as the insurgents wish to organise their forces of Legionnaires and Morocco troops upon their arrival on the mainland. The transportation of thousands of these insurgent fighting men is proceeding regularly.

A Portuguese radio station has picked up a message which purports to be from the Chilean Ambassador in Madrid to his Government, stating that the Ambassador in Madrid urgently need to leave, owing to the grave situation, but as there is no means of transport available they have held a meeting and resolved to collect at one Embassy.

The message is reported to have added that the situation in Madrid was hopeless, Government authority being merely nominal, all power being in the hands of the chiefs of red militia and syndicates.

CAPTURE OF CADIZ

Madrid, Aug. 6. A report which, up to now, cannot be confirmed, says the Government's troops have captured Cadiz.

If it is true, this success will deprive the rebel forces of their chief seaport and will drive a wedge into the middle of the lines in Andalusia.

MORE GOLD FROM SPAIN

Committee Established In Paris

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Paris, Aug. 7. The Under-Secretary of State in the Spanish Interior, Esgia, arrived here on Thursday evening. On board his special plane was a new consignment of gold. Esgia has taken up quarters in the Spanish Embassy, where he met ex-Minister, Fernando de los Rios, and the left wing deputies, Bolano and Ximenes Asua.

The three latter named form a special committee established by the Spanish left wing in Paris and their task, according to "Echo de Paris," is to supervise and conduct into the right channels the various measures of assistance being given the Madrid government by the French popular front.

It is also claimed that loyal units are almost at the gates of Granada, having driven the rebels out of Alhama fortress, which is the key to the city.

French sources from Tangier report that a Spanish Government gunboat has been sunk and a submarine damaged by insurgent bombers in a battle yesterday in the Straits of Gibraltar.

NO CONFIRMATION

Gibraltar, Aug. 7. There is no confirmation of reports that Government forces have captured Cadiz.

The city is still in the hands of the rebels.

FRANCO'S DRIVE

Hendaye, Aug. 6. General Franco is reported to have arrived in Spain from Morocco, but his whereabouts is being kept secret. It is believed he intends to start a big "push" on Madrid as soon as he has landed 15,000 to 20,000 men from Morocco. It is estimated that 8,000 have been embarked during the past few days.

General Franco's immediate destination is believed to be Cordova, where the Government's forces are believed to have concentrated for a blow at Seville.

It is stated that General Franco has accepted the insurgent generals' request that he assume control of the future Spanish Government.

REBEL SUCCESS

Burgos, Aug. 6. A communique issued to-day claims that insurgents routed a large Government force at Orduna, which the rebel troops have occupied, thus cutting the communications between Vittoria and Bilbao.

M. Edouard Daladier is alleged to have ordered the supply of French war material to the Madrid Government.

FOUR GERMANS MURDERED

Spanish Outrage In Barcelona

ENQUIRY DEMANDED

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Berlin, Aug. 6. The entire German Nation is shocked and stunned by the news that the Spanish Communists have wantonly murdered four Germans near Barcelona.

The report, which is confirmed by the Headquarters of the National Socialist Party Organisation for Germans abroad, states that three members of the German Labour Front, Wilhelm Gratz, Helmut Hofmeister, Guenter Schwalmius, and another German Karl Trautz, who had left Barcelona for the French border in a motorcar, were stopped by Communists in the suburb San Martin a few miles outside the city and, after being questioned by the so-called Revolutionary Tribunal, were murdered in cold blood, although all four were in possession of safe conduct permits.

Two of the young Germans who thus fell victims of the Red Terror had intended to go to Hamburg, in order to attend the World Congress for Leisure and Recreation.

The entire German press manifest horror at the ghastly deed as well as expressing the hope that the Spanish Nation will be spared a Communist Regime capable of such crimes.

According to a telegram from the German Consulate-General in Barcelona, Consul General Koehler lodged the strongest protest on Wednesday with the Government in Barcelona against the murder of the four Germans, and demanded instant enquiry.

COMPENSATION DEMANDED

Madrid, Aug. 7. The German Embassy has reiterated to the Government in Madrid the protest, previously made to the local authorities in Barcelona against the shooting of four German subjects. The protest was accompanied by a demand for compensation.

BRITISH ARMS FOR SPAIN

Rome Press Report

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Rome, Aug. 6. Under glaring headlines the press in Rome states that the Spanish Government through its Ambassador in London has placed large orders for arms and ammunition for the loyal troops with the "Vickers Armstrong" Works in England, payment to be made in gold, the arms are to be transported to Spain on British ships.

KING'S CRUISE

London, Aug. 7. It is understood that King Edward who leaves on his cruising holiday at the week-end will join the yacht Nahlin at Sibenik, a Yugoslavian port about 50 miles north of Split.

FRENCH NOTE TO POWERS

Non-Intervention In Spain

DIFFICULTIES IN BRITAIN

London, August 7.

The French proposals for non-intervention in Spain have been received at the Foreign Office which communicated its views thereon to the French Embassy here this morning.

The chief difficulty as far as London is concerned is understood to lie in the proposed ban on civil aircraft in view of the fact that the British Government possesses no such power and is reluctant to resort to special measures.

British circles regard the Geneva Convention of 1925 as a suitable basis for definition of arms, ammunition and implements of war.

Reuter's Bulletin Service

PLAN BEING FRAMED

Paris, Aug. 6. Officials are now busy framing the text of the proposed non-intervention pact which is expected to prevent private or Government assistance to either faction in the Spanish civil war.

It is understood that the plan aims at forbidding all commercial operations with Spain, Spanish Morocco or territories under Spanish sovereignty, as far as arms, ammunition, war material or aircraft are concerned. Dealings in aircraft of any nature would be forbidden.

Immediately the plan is completed it will be circulated among the Governments concerned.

Up to now France has received favourable replies to her note probing the nations' reaction to the suggested neutrality plan, from Great Britain, Germany, Russia, Italy, Belgium, Holland, and Czechoslovakia. The reply from Portugal is still awaited.

Reuter

BELGIUM READY

Brussels, Aug. 6. It is officially announced that Belgium is ready to adhere to the French proposal for non-intervention in Spain, and will forbid the export of arms to Spanish territory.

Reuter

SOVIET FUNDS

Moscow, Aug. 6. Although Russia has signified her willingness to sign a non-intervention pact with respect to the Spanish civil war, subscriptions to a relief fund for the Spanish Government forces have been opened as a result of an appeal of the Central Council of Soviet Trade Unions.

Already subscriptions amount to over 12,000,000 roubles.

GERMAN STEAMER BOMBARDED

Sharp Protest Lodged

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Berlin, Aug. 6. On August 4 the German steamer "Sevilla" at anchor outside Larche in Spanish waters, was bombed by the Spanish Government destroyer "Almirante Valdes" for 45 minutes without any reason or warning of any kind.

The "Sevilla" was fortunately not hit, when the steamer tried to leave it was stopped and forbidden by the destroyer to leave Larche.

The sharpest protest has been lodged by the Reichs Government, and in no uncertain terms it was demanded that measures be instantly taken to prevent repetition of such gross breach of international law.

BRITISH SUBJECTS IN SPAIN

London, Aug. 6. The Foreign Office took an exceptional step to-night when it appealed through the B.B.C. to all Britons still in Spain to communicate immediately with the nearest Consulate-General and indicate whether they are safe and well and able to leave.

It is believed that 800 are still in Spain. Some 2,000 Britons and 1,000 foreigners have been evacuated in British warships up to now.

BOMBARDMENT FROM SEA

Heavy Attack On Algeciras

REBEL GUNBOAT AFIRE

Gibraltar, August 7.

The Spanish Government battleship Jaime Primo, began a heavy bombardment of the insurgent stronghold at Algeciras from about a mile and half out to sea.

Shells were seen from Gibraltar exploding in various parts of the town, including the harbour, where the rebel gunboat Dato and a torpedo boat are moored. Shells hit the Dato which is now afire.

One shell was seen to explode near the walls of the British Consulate at Algeciras.

Before reaching Algeciras, the Jaime Primo accompanied the cruiser and exchanged shots with shore batteries at Ceuta.

TIN CONTROL PROBLEM

Siam's Obstructive Attitude

London, Aug. 6.

If the question of the renewal of tin restriction were referred to tin miners, the Siam Government would find an overwhelming majority in favour of accepting the International Committee's terms sooner than face the terrible consequences that would inevitably befall the Siamese tin mining industry if international control is not renewed at the end of the year.

The was the opinion expressed by Mr. E. J. Byrne, member of the Council of the Tin Producers' Association, at the annual meeting to-day.

Mr. Byrne declared that Siam had been over-liberally treated in the past, and was now not playing the game. He asked whether Siam could afford to be unpopular.

MORE TROUBLE IN PALESTINE

Railway Sabotage Resumed

Jerusalem, Aug. 6.

After the breakdown of peace talks arranged by the Emir Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, it is believed that the Palestine Arabs are planning fresh strike measures. The first serious case of railway sabotage for weeks occurred this afternoon and resulted in the derailment of a goods train from Haifa, near Lydda. There were no casualties.

British armed forces are combing out Haifa for gun-carrying gangsters who are thought to be hiding there.

CROWNING EVENT AT OLYMPIAD

DECATHLON CONTEST STARTS

GLENN MORRIS FAVOURED

(SPECIAL OLYMPIC SERVICE—COPYRIGHT)

Berlin, August 7. The crowning athletic event, the decathlon, began on Friday morning in the Olympic Stadium before a crowd of 50,000. Glenn Morris (U.S.A.) is being conceded the best chances of victory since he recently increased the world record of Sievert (Germany) to 7,373 points.

Germany's promising candidate, Stoeck, was unfortunately prevented from competing because of muscle straining sustained yesterday in establishing the world record in the javelin throw.

Following the first event, 100 metres flat race, Clark (U.S.A.) leads the field with 872 points, having covered the distance in 10.9, followed by Glenn Morris (U.S.A.) with 814, and Gohl (Switzerland) who finished in the race in 11.3 seconds.

The broad jump, shot put, high jump, and the 400 metre flat race also take place to-day, to be followed by five events on Saturday. (A decathlon is a series of 10 different athletic contests undertaken by one man and is regarded as a real test of an athlete's versatility.)

TRUE SPORTING SPIRIT

Berlin, Aug. 7. That the true sporting spirit is present at the Olympic Games is evidenced by the incident during the 4-kilometre bicycling pursuit race on Thursday. During the exciting race between America and Holland a Dutch rider skidded and fell in trying to pass an opponent, and a second Dutch cyclist was unable to avoid a collision, thereby putting the Dutch team out of the race.

The American team appealed to the judges after the race, asking that victory be disregarded, and have it repeated. The regulations did not permit this being carried out, but the gesture was much appreciated in sporting circles.

RECORDS RECOGNISED

Berlin, Aug. 7. Three German world records were officially recognised at the Olympic meeting of the International Women's Sporting Federation, the record of 62.43 in the two-armed javelin throw set up by Lisa Dellus (Munich), the 48.31 metres record of Gisela Mauermayer (Munich) in the discus throw, and the record time of 46.5 in the 400 metres relay established in Cologne by the German team.

PERMANENT SECRETARY OF THE ADMIRALTY

Sir Archibald Carter's Appointment

London, July 23. Sir R. H. Archibald Carter, K.C.I.E., C.B., has been appointed Permanent Secretary of the Admiralty in succession to the late Sir Oswyn A. R. Murray, G.C.B.

Sir Archibald Carter played an important part in the shaping of the Indian Constitutional Reforms. Appointed nearly nine years ago to be an Assistant Secretary of Sir John Simon's Statutory Commission, he has since been constantly engaged on the problems of framing and applying the new system. He was Secretary-General of the successive Round-Table Conferences, prepared official material for the Joint Select Committee, and last year for the prolonged Parliamentary discussions on the India Bill. In his fifth year he has been Private Secretary to a succession of Under-Secretaries and to two Secretaries of State for India. His promotion to Assistant Under-Secretary at the India Office was announced only a few weeks ago.

OLYMPIC SOCCER MATCH

China Defeated By Two Goals

Berlin, Aug. 7. Great Britain defeated China by two goals to nil in the Olympic soccer match.

A crowd of 8,000 people, including the Chinese Ambassador, watched an uninspiring game.

The British team lacked practice and there was no cohesion between the players in the different positions.

The Chinese frequently employed through passes, but they failed to round off the attacks. In the later stages, the Chinese indulged in intricate passing tactics which proved ineffectual against quick tackling and defence.

A feature of the game was the heading of the Chinese. They proved to be adept in this phase of the game.

Half time arrived with no score. In the fifty fifth minute J. M. Dods (Queen's Park) received a pass from J. Crawford which he placed in the net. Eight minutes later L. C. Finch (Barnet) added the second goal.

LAWN BOWLS

Last Week's Games Reviewed

Trailing the "jack" instead of resting on it with his last wood, W. Mair, the Police skip was responsible for giving away two shots to Luz's four, thus enabling the Champions to win by that margin. This was the last head to be played and the result at that period stood at 53 shots all.

The Champions were decidedly lucky to have got away with both points, as with the exception of Omar's rink, the other two rinks skipped by R. F. Luz and C. S. Rossetti had to fight an up-hill battle to bring the deficit down as much as possible. As it was Omar's nine shots' win was enough to offset the balance.

The sensation of the day was the humiliating defeat inflicted on the Bowling Green by the lowly placed Kowloon Dock. The difference in shots was only 13, but the real test of superiority was found in the all round splendid performances of J. McKelvie's and F. Cullen's rinks, when both these skips brought their respective men to victory with 26 shots to their credit as against 12 and 18 respectively scored by L. Guy and R. Duncan.

A. M. Holland was in form and beat C. Cooper by 21 shots to 12.

The improved Talkoo team went down to the Civil Servants by 86 shots to 50. The winner was greatly helped by A. W. Grimmit who played No. 3 to Jones. Jones's rink won by 36 shots to 11 against Chalmers' four.

BACK TO FORM

Kowloon were very lucky to be able to get their game off last Saturday against the I.R.C. There was quite a heavy shower of rain at 3.30 p.m. which delayed the start a little but it soon cleared up and the green played beautifully.

On the first rink Fincher's four met and defeated Dallah's four by the close margin of 2 shots. The game was a good one and was very even right up to the last head. C. Gittins and Labrum played well for Kowloon while Dallah was the outstanding player for the I.R.C.

On the next rink Hyde Lay was also having a rare battle with Adal's four and eventually lost by 2 shots. Lee was off but Lay (A. T.) playing 2 backed him up very well. Goodwin showed a slight improvement on last week's form. Hyde Lay was also playing a good game. Adal and A. K. Minu played good bowls and but for them the rink would have lost.

Minu was up against Silkstone in his best form and lost by the large margin of 14 shots. Overy played very well at two and was ably supported by Spary at three. Silkstone played the game of his life and was mainly responsible for winning by so large a margin. He was drawing and driving beautifully.

J. F. Macgowan.

Mr. C. J. Tacchi took the chair, supported by the following gentlemen: Messrs. C. B. Hoskin (Hon. Secretary), J. V. Ramsay, F. X. M. da Silva, J. Russell, E. el Arculli, S. Deacon and J. Sherriff.

The following were the Championship fixtures as arranged by the Committee.

Semi-Final Open Pairs

S. A. Bright and J. E. Henson v. J. E. Noronha and F. X. M. da Silva. Tuesday, August 11, on the K.C.C. ground. Umpire: H. Overy.

Final Singles Championship

A. E. Coates v. L. A. Gutteres. Friday, August 14, on the Kowloon Bowling green. Umpire: C. B. Hoskin.

Open Pairs Final

The date for the final of the Open Pairs was fixed for Wednesday, August 19, on the C.S.C.C. ground. Umpire: C. J. Tacchi.

Semi-Final Open Rinks

H. A. Alves rink v. R. F. da Luz rink (C.S.C.C.).
A. R. Dallah rink v. U. M. Omar rink (Recreio).

These matches are to be played on or before August 23. The date fixed by the respective teams should be notified to the Hon. Secretary.

League Fixtures

The re-arrangement of the League fixtures resulted as follows: All fixtures of May 16 are to be played on August 29.

All fixtures of April 25 are to be played on September 5.

September 12.—1st Division: P.R.C. v. C.S.C.C.; Talkoo v. K.B.G.C.; K.D.R.C. v. C. de Recreio.

2nd Division: C.S.C.C. v. P.R.C.

September 19.—1st Division: Talkoo v. C.C.C. "B".

2nd Division: C.S.C.C. v. H.K. Yacht Club.

September 26: Talkoo v. C.S.C.C.; C. de R. v. C.C.C. "B".

The Association would appreciate it if the matches fixed for September 19 and 26 be arranged by the Clubs concerned to be played off before these dates so as to shorten the season.

The committee then selected the Interport team. In connection with the itinerary of the team the following dates of departure and return were also fixed. Depart: September 4 per s.s. Empress of Asia. Return: September 18 per s.s. Chichibu Maru.

SIR NORMAN KEMP RESCUES TWO STUDENTS

BOAT DASH TO OVERTURNED DINGHY

London, July 23.

Sir Norman Kemp, proprietor of Minard Estate, eight miles from Oban, figured in an exciting rescue at Minard Point, off the Argyll coast, yesterday.

Two brothers, both students at London University Peter and John Rawlings, sons of a London doctor, had a narrow escape from drowning when their small sailing dinghy overturned in a sudden gust of wind.

Mr. D. McColl, Lerars Farm, left-harvesting work in a field about half a mile from Minard Point, and ran to the shore. By that time Sir Norman and Lady Kemp, who are at present at Minard House, heard the shouts for help from their house, which is the only residence in this lonely part of the coast.

Sir Norman and his son at once launched a small boat and dashed to the rescue.

"The youths," he said, "were exhausted when we reached them, having been in the water for about half an hour."

"One was clinging to the stern of the up-turned boat. The sail had kept her afloat."

The two students and the dingy were brought ashore with the help of Mr. McColl. They were taken to Minard House, where they were given brandy and had their clothes dried. After a rest and some hospitality they went back to Oban.

FORD JUNR. PINS FAITH IN YOUTH

HE BEGAN AS LABOURER, NOW £30,000 A YEAR MAN

London, July 24.

In the lounge of a West End hotel, I talked last night with one of the world's richest men, who started his career as an unskilled labourer, writes a correspondent.

He is forty-two-year-old Mr. Edsel Ford, only son of Henry Ford, the American car magnate, and heir to a £50,000,000 fortune, who is on a flying business trip to this country with his wife and two sons.

President of the Ford Motor Company with a salary of £30,000 a year, Mr. Ford told me that the future of the world lay in the hands of young men.

"In our organisation," he said, "we pin our faith in the young men of to-day. It is our policy to encourage them."

"I myself began as an unskilled labourer in my father's workshop after I left public school."

"That is how I think all young men should start—at the bottom of the ladder—so that they can go right through every branch of whatever business they happen to be in."

I asked Mr. Ford if he did not find the task of following in his famous father's footsteps a difficult one.

"Not nearly such a difficult task as my father had to get to the top," he replied, laughingly.

"My father, though he is now seventy-three, still takes an active

FIGHTING IRON POSSESSION

Court Sequel To Ferry Trouble

SMALL FINE IMPOSED

A fighting iron, comprising several pieces of iron, one with a sharpened end, and linked together by rings, was exhibited by Det-Sergt. C. H. Goodwin before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Police Court yesterday when Wong Hoi-lung, 25, unlicensed medicine hawker, faced a charge of possession of the instrument without a licence from the Inspector General of Police.

Sergeant Goodwin stated that about 3.40 p.m. on Thursday, defendant and his friend, who were both unlicensed medicine hawkers, were passengers on board the ferry launch Man Chi travelling from Hong Kong to Shamshuipo. About half way across the harbour, defendant's friend entered the wheel house at the stern where nobody is allowed. He was ordered out by a sailor and an argument arose. On arrival at the wharf the sailor reported to the inspector and when the two men came off the ferry they were warned by the inspector. Defendant became argumentative and assumed a fighting attitude. He lifted the fighting iron, which he had in his hand, as if to strike but did not strike. It was taken from him.

Sergt. Goodwin added that both men were medicine hawkers in Canton and Kwongsi but owing to the trouble up there had come to Hong Kong about ten days ago. He had been instructed to ask for a small nominal fine and confiscation of the iron.

"It is a dangerous weapon when used for the purpose," he remarked.

Defendant was fined two dollars and the iron was ordered to be confiscated.

"NO ROOM FOR COMPROMISE"

MR. RUNCIMAN ON NAVAL STRENGTH

London, July 18. Mr. Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, addressing his constituents at a National Government demonstration at Bosahan, Cornwall, last evening, said that on the question of naval strength there was no room for compromise. We must be either weak or strong in naval strength. If weak we must fall back. If strong we should uphold all that the British Empire had stood for in the past, and stood for now, in the welfare of its people throughout the world.

"If the Government can be certain of the cooperation of all classes of the community," he said, "we can achieve what we all desire—peace abroad, peace at home, and an increasingly strong industrial position. The main principle on which our National Government was formed remains true to this day. We have had to face two great special misfortunes. The League of Nations has failed to carry out the great burden upon its shoulders, which was too much for its strength.

Then we were anxious about the position in the Mediterranean, one of the keys not only to the British Dominions but to Egypt and India. There were rumours and assertions that the British Fleet had become debilitated and too old for its work, but we have shown by our actions that the command of the seas must not be lost to the British Empire. We must have not only a strong Navy but a strong Air Force. It is no use inviting and encouraging our young men to join our Services and then leave them without proper weapons and adequate equipment and munitions.

"I am glad to know that a great number of young men are coming forward for the air service. If we attend to these matters in an adequate measure we shall make up our teetotal in every way in which we have lost it. We must at all costs maintain our Imperial strength. You must judge us, not by what you think of our action, so much as by the results of that action, which is evident in the most remarkable return of industrial prosperity—not only in the iron and steel industry, but also in shipbuilding, the engineering trades, and in agriculture."

YUNNAN EXPEDITION BACK

After Two-Year Stay

INVESTIGATING CONDITIONS IN CHINA'S SECOND LARGEST BORDER PROVINCE

Nanking, (by Mail). Yunnan, considered to be the most wealthy province in minerals, will be properly developed in the non-distant future as a result of a wealth of information recently brought back by the Yunnan Expedition of the Academia Sinica. Concluding a two-year investigation tour, the expedition has collected a sizeable quantity of specimens of ores and fossils and numerous films depicting the customs and manners of the native tribes in China's second largest and one of its richest provinces.

Noted as the "ethnological garden" of China, a large proportion of its population being aboriginal—with the Miao and Lolo predominating—the data gathered by the party will prove invaluable as reference materials for the study of geological and anthropological conditions in that frontier province.

RACIAL CHARACTERISTICS

The expedition was sent in the autumn of 1934 at the request of the Yunnan Provincial Government for the purpose of making a study of the racial characteristics in Yunnan. For the convenience of investigation it was divided into three sections: geology, anthropology and ethnology.

Upon a request of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs the Geology and Ethnology Sections accompanied the Sino-British Joint Boundary Commission to the undemarcated section of the Yunnan-Burma frontier to make an investigation of the geographic and racial conditions there.

Headed by Mr. Meng Hsien-min, the Geology Section made a thorough investigation of the principal mines in Yunnan, including the tin mines in Kachin, the silver mines in Panlung, Lu-fang, Hsunning, Kengma, Hsimeng, and the gold mines in Shihkaochin.

DEPOSITS STILL FOUND

According to investigation, the annual output of tin in Kachin is more than 7,000 tons valued at approximately $25,000,000. The whole mining area measures no less than 9,000,000 sq. kilo. After six months of field work the section had drawn several detailed maps, showing the geological formation and distribution of the mines and had collected at least two tons of specimens of ores. Attention was also given to the mining methods, transportation, water supply in the mines and the living conditions of the miners.

Rich deposits were still found in the old silver mines in Maolung, Hsunning, Kengma, Hsimeng, and Wunai. It was said that during the Ching Dynasty the mining tax collected from each of these mines amounted to as much as several tens of thousands taels annually. Operations of the mines, however, were later suspended owing to local disturbances. To increase the silver reserve of China exploitation of these mines should be resumed, the section pointed out.

The gold mines in Maikiang, the copper mines in Ningtal, and the salt mines in Shihkaochin were also thoroughly investigated by the section.

CHARACTERISTICS

Under the leadership of Mr. Ling Chun-sheng the Ethnology Section studied the dialects, customs and manners, physical characteristics and other racial characteristics of various tribes in Yunnan, including the Lolo, Palaung, Kachin, Liso, and Akha. The party recorded 12 dialects of these tribes which had never been known to the outside world before. They also collected more than 300 bone specimens, and took more than 3,000 photos and 5,000 feet of motion pictures of the customs and manners of these tribes. These will be displayed at an exhibition to be held shortly.

The Anthropology Section, headed by Mr. Tao Yun-kwei studied 600 miners in Kachin, the Tai and the Woni in Chien-shui, Shiping, and along the Yuankiang, and

31 YEARS' WORK FOR SEAMEN

RETIREMENT OF MR. A. W. J. DAVIES

London, July 24.

Mr. A. W. J. Davies retires today from the Admiralty after 10 years' service as Clerk in Charge, Greenwich Hospital, Department. He had previously held the position of Accountant of Greenwich Hospital for over 21 years.

Strictly speaking there is now no Greenwich Hospital, since the institution was closed as such in 1870. Under an Act of 1865 the Admiralty was empowered to grant pensions in lieu of food and accommodation to such of the inmates as preferred, and in 1869 another Act made such pensions compulsory. The hospital then remained unoccupied until 1873, when the buildings were taken over for their present purposes as the Royal Naval College.

During his service Mr. Davies has seen the funds of the Department increase considerably, and it may surprise many to know that it has now to deal with a capital of over £4,000,000. The income is devoted entire to naval charitable purposes, the greater part being appropriated to benefits in the form of pensions and grants to seamen and marines and their widows and children. Included in this expenditure is the cost of running the new Royal Hospital School, which was moved from Greenwich to Holbrook, Suffolk, in 1933, and has a complement of 800 boys, who are the sons of seamen and marines.

PENSIONS TO WIDOWS

During the first years of the War the Department organized and carried out the work of paying the pensions to widows and allowances to children of seamen and marines who lost their lives. Later this work was taken over by the Ministry of Pensions. For his services in this connection Mr. Davies was awarded the M.B.E. in 1918. For some years after the War he was appointed, with the approval of the Admiralty, as Steward of the Manor Court at Alston, in Cumberland, one of the Greenwich Hospital estates. This Court was a survival of the feudal system, but has since, with many other manorial incidents, been extinguished consequent on the passing of the Law of Property Act, 1922.

For many years Mr. Davies has devoted the greater part of his spare time to helping other naval charities. In 1924 he was associated with the late Captain Sir Lionel Wells, R.N., in opening the R.N. and R.M. Warrant Officers' Benevolent Fund, and two years later he was specially thanked by the Admiralty for having placed the fund on a sound financial basis. He has served as a trustee and also honorary secretary and treasurer of the fund.

In recognition of his services Mr. Davies has been presented with a gold cigarette case at a luncheon at which Rear-Adm. Sir Thomas Lyne, Vice-Admiral Gordon Campbell, V.C., and several other officers were present. Mr. Davies is also a member of the committee and honorary secretary and treasurer of the Admiral of the Fleet Sir Frederick Richards Memorial Fund, which helps commissioned officers of the Navy and Marines and their widows and children. He was awarded the Imperial Service Order in 1934 and the Jubilee Medal in 1935. He is succeeded as Clerk in Charge of Greenwich Hospital by Mr. C. H. Boon, hitherto accountant of the Department.

DEAN DIES AT ALTAR

In Communicant's Arms

London, July 22. The Very Rev. Dr. Joseph Brewster Jobberns, Dean of the Brechin Diocese in the Episcopal Church in Scotland, died at the altar in his Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Dundee, to-day, while officiating at a special Communion service to commemorate the name saint of the church. He was 68.

He had just given Communion to Mr. Peter Anderson, the only member of the congregation present, when the server saw him lean forward on the altar.

Anderson went to his assistance, and the Dean died in his arms within a minute.

His body was draped with a cloak and left in front of the altar.

GIRL OF 16 CLAIMS A CLAN CHIEFTAINSHIP

A MEDIAEVAL COURT SITS IN EDINBURGH

Edinburgh, July 20.

An interesting claim by a 16-year-old girl to bear the arms of a Highland chief came before Sir Francis J. Grant, the Lord Lyon King of Arms in Scotland, at the first sitting of his court for twenty years in Parliament House, Edinburgh, to-day.

The petitioner is Miss Catriona Louise Maclean, of Ardgour, and if she succeeds she will be the first girl chieftain in Highland history. Her claim is to the "undifferenced" and principal armorial bearings matriculated in 1909 in Lyon Register by her father, who was the sixteenth laird and chieftain of Ardgour. The petitioner's mother is the sister of the present Lord Inverclyde, and the Ardgour estates in Argyllshire, which extend to 40,000 acres and are held by trustees, will fall to be conveyed to her on attaining 21 years or previous marriage.

Miss Maclean's claim is of additional interest in that she submits evidence that in Scottish heraldry the helmet crest and motto of the armorial bearings are officially allowed to ladies where such ladies have succeeded to the chieftaincy of the house.

Miss Maclean's claim is opposed by her kinsman, Lieutenant Commander Henry Hugh Maclean, of Windhouse, Bursledon, Hampshire, as heir male, who maintains that the chieftainship passes, at all events in the first place, to heirs male in preference to the heiress of the line. Some time ago Commander Maclean was invited by the clan association to become chieftain.

The senior counsel for the petitioner was Mr. Thomas Innes, of Learney, advocate, the Albany Herald, assisted by Mr. J. F. Gordon Thomson, advocate. The respondent was represented by Mr. Hector McKechnie, advocate, who claimed in his plea-in-law that the petition should be dismissed as incompetent, it being signed and the petitioner represented by a herald who, being a judicial officer of the Lyon Court, was not entitled to practise therein, at any rate in contentious matters, and that the Lyon Court had no jurisdiction to determine questions of chieftainship or of precedence such as were raised.

Mr. McKechnie dealt at some length with the objections to the representation of the petitioner by a member of the Lyon Court.

Mr. Gordon Thomson mentioned that the petitioner was not claiming to be head of the Clan Maclean as a whole but chieftainess of her own particular branch of the clan.

The hearing was adjourned.

DUCHESS OF YORK OPENS PLAYING FIELDS

NINE-ACRE GROUND THAT COST £525,000

London, July 22.

Thousands of children gave a tumultuous welcome to the Duchess of York yesterday when she opened Coram's fields and the Harrowworth playground, on the site of the old Foundling Hospital in Guilford Street, London.

The ceremony marked the culmination of nearly 10 years of effort to save the famous site in the centre of one of the most populous districts in London. The playgrounds are now preserved for all time for children, for whom the need for space for recreation is paramount.

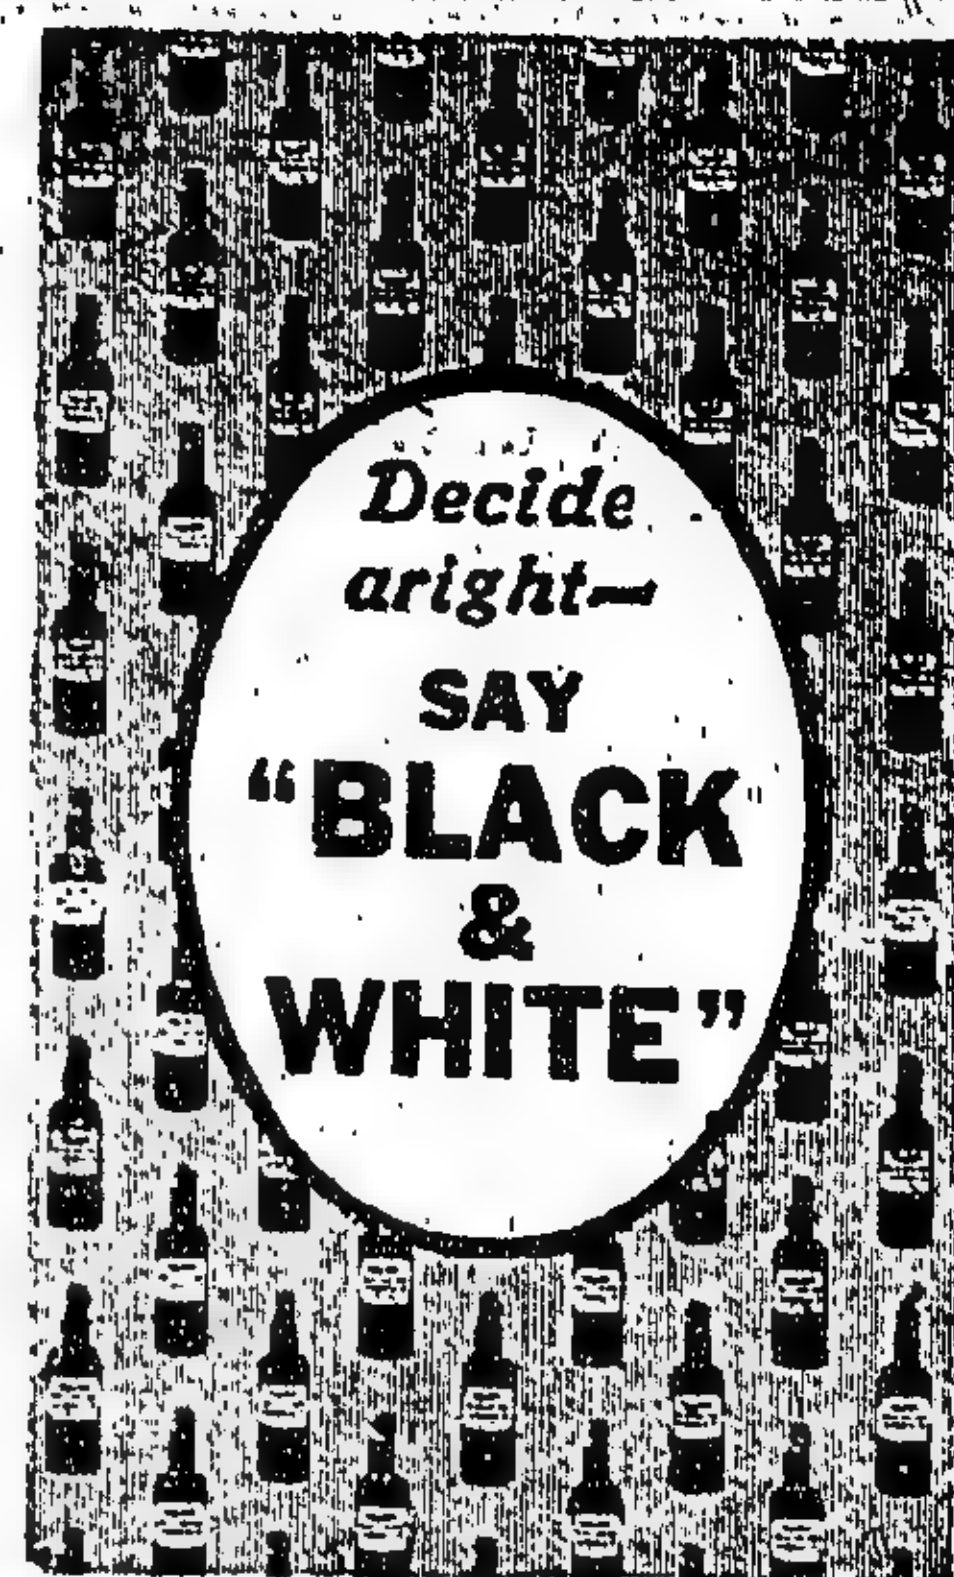

The Court having gone into half-mourning, the Duchess wore a black-flowered white silk dress, a dark grey fox fur, and white shoes. Her white hat had an edging of black.

NO TIME WASTED

A few minutes after the opening ceremony hundreds of children were playing on the swings and see-saws, were paddling in the artificial lakes and building sand castles, and while they played the Duchess strolled around and smilingly watched them.

The Foundling site of nine acres was in a danger of passing into the hands of commerce or builders when the Foundling children were moved out into the country in 1922, and appeals were launched to save it.

The total cost of the ground was £525,000.

From Manila To N. Y. City In Eight Days Is Record Made By Bixby

Manila, Aug. 5. From Manila to New York City in eight days, with a two-day stop at San Francisco and a one-day stop at St. Louis, is a record established by H. M. Bixby, Far Eastern representative of Pan American Airways.

Mr. Bixby, returned to Manila yesterday afternoon on the Hawaiian Clipper, the first man to make a round trip airplane flight between Manila and New York City. He was away about six weeks, four of which he spent in the United States.

Leaving Manila on June 19, Friday, Mr. Bixby arrived in New York the following Friday—eight days, considering the difference in the international date line. He could have made the trip a lot quicker, but he stopped two days in San Francisco and one day in St. Louis.

Mr. Bixby expressed himself as well satisfied with the trip. He said that the hotel installations at Guam, Wake and Midway are about finished, but he declined to comment as to when the company would be ready to carry passengers.

Arriving on the Clipper with Mr. Bixby were Clarence M. Young, general manager of the Pacific division, and T. K. Morris, acting chief of the commissary department, who are making an inspection of the various Pacific bases. Mr. Young plans to return to Alameda, California, on the same plane.

Another passenger on the Clipper was Phil. B. Best, assistant maintenance supervisor, who returned from a visit to Alameda. The Hawaiian Clipper landed at Cavite at 3:15 p.m. yesterday. She is under the command of Captain Edwin C. Musick, who is assisted by a crew of seven men. The plane is scheduled to take off at dawn next Friday, August 7, on her return flight to Alameda, and is due to arrive at her home port the following Tuesday.

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

Salacot Makes Engine Repairs

(Through the courtesy of Messrs. G.A. Harriman & Co.)

The following report on progress made on repairing the power plant of the Salacot Mining Company, and on operations in general, was made to the Bulletin recently.

"After the first accident to the Diesels, and also on account of more serious accidents to similar engines at other plants the manufacturers of the equipment advised the company that owing to faulty design that they recommended additional bearings being installed; and that pending the arrival of these parts from the factory, the generators should be slowed down from 350 to 330 revolutions per minute.

"This was done, but the slowing down of the engines caused a slowing down of the ball mills, and a consequent decrease of grinding capacity, which in great part governs the milling capacity.

"It was also discovered that the method of erecting the generators was at fault, and the builders recommended the taking out of the old foundations and replacement by a better type. The engineers at Salacot claim that this weakness in foundation design had been seen by them before erection; and that in spite of their protest the engineers of the manufacturer insisted upon making the installation as originally planned.

"The parts for changing the installation arrived early in July and Otto Karlson is now at the mine superintending the alterations.

"The first engine was stopped, the changes made, and the engine returned to service on July 28. The second engine was then stopped and is still undergoing alterations.

"During the time of these repairs, one engine has had to carry the entire load, so that it was necessary to operate the mine compressor and the mill grinding department alternately. One ball mill, therefore, works all of the time and the other one but half of the time.

"The shortage of compressed air as a consequence, has forced the suspension of part of the development work, so that all available air can be devoted to ore production.

"Some changes have occurred in the staff, due to several men leaving, lured by higher salaries promised by other companies; but they have been replaced by competent men.

"In the meantime, the two principal development faces in the mine are going ahead. San Antonio winze is now down to the 450 foot level, and upon reaching the 400 foot level the vein will be cross-cut.

"The West drift on the 700 foot level is advancing on what is thought to be the extension of the Ipo vein, and although the values encountered are not yet of pay grade, there is a general improvement.

NOTE CIRCULATION

A New Record

London, Aug. 6.

Note circulation of £454,406,397 shown in this week's Bank of England return is a new high record. Circulation at the same time last year—height of holiday season—was £411,835,941 and after Autumn the decline rose at Christmas to £424,506,785. Recent increase in circulation have been in part due to foreign demand on account of hoarding and have been associated with rise in the last three months of about £41,000,000 in banks holding of gold—British Wireless.
